What to Expect

Story Club aims to build an inclusive, interactive community of young, creative minds. Participants will learn how to stretch their storytelling muscles to write and produce with energy, freedom and originality.

Employing word play, prompt cards, photography, group challenges, theatre sports, art and music, the workshop is a fully immersive experience with no creative limits, supported by plenty of practical skills.

Perfect for budding poets, playwrights, authors, actors, songwriters, journalists, artists and performers.

About Taya

Taya Reid is a photographer and award winning writer based on Whadjuk Noongar Boodja. In 2023 she completed her first novel manuscript under a fellowship with the Centre for Stories, and her short fiction has most recently been published in this year's Sydney Hammond anthology, Water Under The Bridge. Taya is a regular contributor to Tales & Trails magazine and margaretriver.com and runs creative workshops for children and adults. Taya lives near the beach with her partner and two daughters.
